City of Green Bay's Online and By-Phone Services to the Public

(Green Bay, WI) - Mayor Genrich and city staff continue to monitor the status of COVID19, and are taking action to protect the health and safety of the community. The City urges residents to maintain protective practices such as hand-washing, refraining from touching one's face and social distancing. Social distancing, encouraged by The Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) and the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), is the practice of keeping a six-foot distance between yourself and others, whether showing symptoms or not.

As of now, City Hall is open, but we are suspending all in-person meetings, and will evaluate this prohibition on a weekly basis. This situation is changing rapidly, and we encourage residents to routinely check our website and sign up for notifications (go to our website www.greenbaywi.gov and click on the "notify me" button on the homepage, then input your information). The City asks residents to carefully consider whether or not you should physically visit City Hall. In order to maintain protective practices, you can access City services by going on line or by making a phone call.

Brown County operates 9-1-1, and this is fully active, should residents require emergency services. Additionally, Green Bay Police and Green Bay Metro Fire are fully operational and ready to respond to residents' emergencies.

"My first obligation as mayor is to protect the safety of this community. In the days ahead, I will make all decisions with that responsibility in mind. Please take all appropriate actions to keep you and your fellow community members safe, as we navigate these uncharted waters together, and know that your city government will continue to meet our charter to maintain the health and welfare of the community" stated Mayor Genrich.

The City of Green Bay would like to remind community members to stay at home if you are sick and exhibiting symptoms. Please see this link for a deeper explanation.
